What is Neuro-Training and what is Kinesiology?

Neuro-Training is a way of helping a person to recuperate and get beyond various events in life that unfortunately have conditioned them to respond in a predictable way.

The Neuro-Training model is based on the universal laws that the person innately desires to heal themselves. Many years ago NT recognized that we are not built on techniques alone, rather, that we all express an inherent pattern of how we all heal and recuperate. In working with this universal pattern, the contexts from which we apply the changes, will have a much more long-lasting effect.

This contextual approach works with what is congruent for us all, regardless of our cultural differences, beliefs, attitudes or way in which we were raised. Neuro-Training considers our genetic and energetic based structure that determines the patterns of how we heal and get better.

The approach provides the philosophy, a working model, the tools, techniques and practices to train a person for long-term recuperation based on the latest research in neuroscience. It is the result of over 30 years of research and practice by Neuro-Training Pty Ltd, and is considered to be at the forefront of Neuro-Science.

The Neuro-Training approach is endorsed by Neuro-Training Pty Ltd, and accredited by the Australian Institute of Kinesiology (“AIK”) professional association. Kinesiology is the verification tool used to best direct the Neuro-training session. Many other students who have trained in Kinesiology elsewhere will go on to study the Neuro-Training approach and integrate the previous information using our Solution Based Model.

What qualification do I receive?

The Diploma of Kinesiology (HLT52415) will qualify you as a Kinesiologist once every unit is complete. It is government recognized qualification.

The Diploma of Neuro-Training entitles you to be a more advanced Neuro-Trainer and recognized by professional associations at a higher level of expertise. It is not a government recognized qualification but is recognized by the Kinesiology Industry.

The Solution-Oriented Neuro-Training gives the practitioner the best model with which to assist clients on their recuperation journey. The model is a client-focused model that references an individual’s patterns on how to best recuperate, rather than just being techniques.

The Diploma of Neuro-Training combines the Activation Certificate, The Recuperation Certificate and the Certificate of Solution Oriented Neuro-Training.

The Activation Certificate entitles you to study further other Neuro-Training Activation courses or train as a trainer of Neuro-Training. It’s our smallest certificate and suited for those wishing a small experience.

The Recuperation Certificate enables you to earn using the NT recuperation clinic as you continue to learn more NT and what it takes to become a professional practitioner. You cannot work independently with this certificate but can work under supervision in our student practitioner clinics.

The Certificate of Solution Oriented Neuro-Training (SONT) entitles you to be a Neuro-Trainer with the knowledge of Solution Oriented Clinic focus. You are qualified to practice as a Neuro-Trainer and Natural Therapist. You can apply for and receive professional indemnity insurance at this level.

Are there other courses I can complete once I have completed my certificate or Diploma?

We have almost 50 different classes. Some classes combine Kinesiology and Neuro-Training, some only have Neuro-Training only (we refer to these as the activation classes).

Once you have done the first four days (Activation certificate) you may go on to study any other activation class that specializes in a specific ailment. In fact, you can actually do one day then try another one-day activation class that is outside of the activation certificate if you didn't want to achieve a certificate level right away.

For example we offer “Best Digest – for better digestion”, “Excel at Sports” or “Neuro-Power Training” for fitness and stamina or “Keen Mean Mind - for learning and memory. We offer many activation certificates that are independent of Kinesiology. Please contact us for more information and the entire list.

Any module or class listed on our courses at the College leads on to the Diploma of Neuro-Training and also the Diploma of Kinesiology.

The Diploma of Neuro-Training or any other Neuro-Training class after module 3 can lead you to study any class of your choice. Other classes are offered by Neuro-Training with Kinesiology such as; Iridology and Neuro-Training, Astrology and Neuro-Training, Financial Intelligence and Neuro-Training.
